Preface: Introduction and Statement of Commitment

Himachal, the abode of snow, where the Gods dwell...

Himachal Pradesh is abundantly bestowed with natural beauty, ranging from vast tracts of high altitude Trans-Himalayas desert to dense green deodar forests, from apple orchards to cultivated terraces from snow-capped high Himalayan mountain ranges to snow fed lakes and gushing rivers. This makes the state a truly wonderful getaway. There are many bonafide reasons to visit the state. Inhabited by a populace that firmly believes in ‘Atithi Devo Bhava’ (the Guest is a God), the state offers a memorable travel and stay complemented by food that nourishes the body, music that transports the soul into the sublime and grand vistas, straight out of a dream world.

In the year 2013, the State had come up with the Sustainable Tourism Development Policy to use sustainable tourism as a means to provide better employment and greater business opportunities for residents, to contribute to the protection of the state’s unique natural and cultural heritage and to ensure the long-term prosperity and good quality of life to future generations of Himachal Pradesh.

From a figure of 161.45 lakhs tourists in 2012-2013, the number of tourists visiting the State has now gone up to 196.02 lakhs in 2017-2018. The need of the hour, given our fragile ecosystem, is to ensure that this growth continues in a sustainable manner.

The Sustainable Tourism Development Policy, 2019 is an attempt in this regard. This policy has been framed to achieve sustainable development goals (SDGs), particularly SDGs 8 and 12 through various objectives directed towards the socio-economic growth of host communities, offering quality experience to travellers, protection of the natural-cultural environment and state’s destinations, and creating an investment friendly environment for private investors. Strategies framed under each objective have been broken down into short term, medium term & long-term action points. The New Policy shall act as a guide for the State to ensure sustainable development and inclusive green growth of the tourism sector in Himachal Pradesh.

Jai Ram Thakur,
Chief Minister

1 Introduction

Tourism acts as an engine for development through foreign exchange earnings and creation of direct and indirect employment. Tourism contributes to 10% of the world's GDP. It accounts for 7% of the world's exports, services being the third largest export sector after fuels, chemicals and ahead of automotive products. Tourism is responsible for 235 million jobs, one in every 10 jobs, worldwide (UNWTO, 2017).

In many developing countries, tourism is the most viable and sustainable economic development option, and in some countries, it also is the main source of foreign exchange earnings. In the Indian Himalayan Region (IHR) over the last decades, tourism has experienced continued growth and increasing diversification to become one of the fast growing economic sectors in India. This status is in line with the sector being predicted to grow at an average annual rate of 7.9% from 2013 to 2023. IHR has attracted one and all who seek vistas, adventure, cooler climates in summer, sport, spiritual solace, peace and the many cultural assets of mountains - built to take advantage of the natural grandeur it manifests. For local mountain people, tourism means valuable economic and business opportunities and jobs, and for state governments and private entrepreneurs it brings revenues and profits (Niti Ayog, August 2018).

Despite various benefits, the mainstream tourism has associated negative connotations. The impacts of mass-tourism and disregard to carrying capacity in the tourism development trajectory of the IHR has led to serious concerns among policy makers, residents and visitors. The degradation of cultural assets and disruption to social structures are parallel threats.. Global issues of resource depletion and environmental degradation may be seen as important as local ones, including the long-term effects of tourism on climate change and the impact of adaptation and mitigation measures on travel patterns. It is also seen that tourism has been associated with weak linkages to poor. The lack of engagement of the poor can cause much tourism spending to leak away from poorer destinations. The income that remains may not end up benefiting the poor, reaching the better educated and well-off segments of the society instead.

In this regard, it is important to explore the benefits accruing due to tourism and its associated multipliers while regulating the adverse impacts that the industry could inflict. Hence, exploring trends promoting the tourism industry in a sustainable manner becomes dire.

1.1 Sustainable Tourism – A viable option

UNESCO defines sustainable tourism as “tourism that respects both local people and the traveller, cultural heritage and the environment”. Sustainable tourism seeks to provide people with an exciting and educational holiday that is also beneficial to the people of the host country. All tourism activities, of whatever motivation – holidays, business travel, conferences, adventure travel and ecotourism – need to be sustainable. This approach to tourism is becoming so popular that it is believed it would become ‘main stream’ within a decade.

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) are a set of targets relating to future international development. They are created by the United Nations and promoted as Global Goals for Sustainable Development. There are 17 goals, including poverty alleviation, zero hunger, good health, gender equality, affordable and clean energy, decent jobs and economic growth, clear water and sanitation, and responsible consumptions, etc. Given this background, sustainable tourism has possibilities of playing a significant role in the realization of these goals, particularly SDGs 8 and 12.

- Goal 8: on the promotion of “sustained, inclusive and sustainable economic growth”, full and productive employment and decent work for all includes as Target 8.9 "By 2030, devise and implement policies to promote sustainable tourism that creates jobs and promotes local culture and products" (Niti Ayog, August 2018).
- Goal 12: aimed to “ensure sustainable consumption and production patterns” includes as Target 12.b to "Develop and implement tools to monitor sustainable development impacts for sustainable tourism which creates jobs, promotes local culture and products" (Niti Ayog, August 2018).

Ministry of Tourism, Government of India, aims at positioning tourism as a major engine for economic growth and harnessing its multiplier effects for employment generation and poverty alleviation in an environmentally sustainable manner. In this light, there is an ardent need to make the current tourism policy comprehensive in a sustainable way. The state of Himachal Pradesh has been proactively working precisely on this.

1.2 Sustainable Tourism in Himachal Pradesh

Himachal Pradesh is a hill state adorned with the majestic Himalayan range, forests, wildlife, rivers and traditional communities. Reorganized as the 18th Indian state in 1971, Himachal Pradesh is in the north-western region of the Himalayas. It is landlocked between Jammu & Kashmir in the north, Tibetan plateau in the west, and Punjab in the east. The state stands apart in terms of its topographic diversity and breathtaking pristine natural beauty. In order to foster economic growth, the reliance on tourism industry has been observed to deliver positive results. This has been attested by the fact that the number of tourists visiting Himachal Pradesh increased from 6.55 million in 2004 to 19.6 million in the year 2017. A tourism policy that accelerates economic development, minimizes social inequality, reduces poverty, conserves tangible and intangible heritage (by making use of state of the art technologies) in a sustainable manner is an immediate requirement.

2 Tourism Themes to be promoted in Himachal Pradesh

Himachal has various natural and man-made assets namely, the Himalayas, lakes, rivers, snow, rural landscape, pilgrimage spots like temples, gurudwaras and monasteries, heritage structures, traditional dance forms and attires, local handicrafts and cuisine, and some well-established commercial destinations like Shimla, Manali and Dharamshala. ## 2.1 Ecotourism

All nature-based forms of tourism in which the main motivation of the tourists is the observation and appreciation of nature as well as the traditional cultures prevailing in the natural areas (UNWTO), having minimized negative impacts comes under eco-tourism. The advantages of promoting eco-tourism include: benefits to local communities, generation of revenue, support to local economy and preservation of ecosystem and biodiversity.

The varied natural landscape, rolling pastures, mighty Himalayas, vast flowing rivers, pristine lakes, dense pine forests and a vivid variety of flora and fauna makes Himachal Pradesh a must visit eco-tourism destination. Bird watching, trekking, eco-trails, nature parks, eco-huts, and camping are some tourism products that shall be developed to promote eco-tourism.

2.2 Agro/Organic tourism

Agro/Organic tourism involves any agriculturally based operation or activity that brings visitors to a farm, orchard or ranch. Agro Tourism is undertaken to experience the real rural life, taste the authentic local food and get familiar with the various farming tasks. The State has many organic farms, stone fruit orchards, etc. to offer under Agro Tourism.

Development of village infrastructure, organizing cultural shows, providing eco-friendly accommodations amidst farms and orchards, streamlining facilitation procedures at airports, human resource development, creating awareness, improving public participation and facilitation of private sector participation are important points of action for facilitating Agro Tourism in the State.

2.3 Snow Tourism

Himachal Pradesh experiences extreme winters. Despite the harsh dip in temperatures, winter and snow tourism of the region is extremely magnetic, attracting tourists in huge numbers. Activities like snow trekking and camping, skiing, gondola rides, heli-skiing or simply playing in the snow are popular during this time.

2.4 Lake Tourism

Himachal Pradesh houses several natural and man-made lakes like Prashar Lake, Chandra Tal, Deepak Tal, Mani Mahesh Lake, Maharana Pratap Sagar, Gobind Sagar Lake which offer numerous opportunities. The state is also looking forward to provide access to man-made reservoirs for conducting water sports adventure activities. Apart from this, the fast-flowing rivers of Himachal are popular for activities like river rafting, white water river rafting, angling etc., and water zorbing, rappelling and overnight camping along the river banks.

2.5 Adventure tourism

It is a type of niche tourism, involving exploration or travel with a certain degree of risk (real or perceived), or physical danger which may require special skills and physical exertion. Adventure tourism attracts high value customers who are passionate and risk-taking. It can be leveraged to support local economy with sustainable practices.

2.6 Pilgrimage Tourism

Pilgrimage tourism can be described as travel undertaken to visit a place, building or a shrine which is sacred. This travel can take place either for observing or participating in religious aspects in accordance with an individual's trust and faith. These places attract the attention of visitors, not only for religious reasons, but also tourists interested in history, architecture or art.

Himachal is known, since earliest of times, as "Dev Bhoomi", which translates to "The abode of the Gods". The splendid height of the Himalayan ranges, with its great scenic beauty and aura of spiritual calm makes it the natural home of the Gods. Being a State full of isolated valleys and high ranges, several different styles of temple architecture can be observed, having carved stone shikharas, pagoda style shrines, and temples that look like Buddhist Gompas. The State not only has Hindu temples, but it also houses many Colonial Churches, Sikh Gurudwaras and centuries-old Buddhist Monasteries. Several of them are important places of pilgrimage and each year attract thousands of devotees from all over the country.

2.7 Cultural and Heritage Tourism

This tourism is oriented towards the cultural heritage of the location where tourism is occurring. The National Trust for Historic Preservation in the US defines heritage tourism as "...traveling to experience the places, artifacts and activities that authentically represent the stories and people of the past, and can include cultural, historic and natural resources". Cultural tourism is concerned with a traveler's engagement with a country or region's culture, specifically the lifestyle of the people in those geographical areas, the history of those people, their art, architecture, religion(s), and other elements that helped shape their way of life. The eco-products like handicrafts, natural produce, cuisines, herbal cosmetics and products, medicines, ethnic ornaments, souvenirs etc. of Himachal Pradesh are quite popular among travelers. Often villages and rural areas have exclusive products which could be branded. Popularizing the products would lure more travelers to the place, as well as improve the economic condition of the local villagers. The advantages of promoting cultural/eco products are: it helps uplift the backward communities, is less demanding in terms of technological innovations, and finally, acts as a lifeline for dying art form.

2.8 Health and Wellness tourism

Wellness tourism is travel associated with the pursuit or managing or enhancing one's personal well-being through physical, psychological, or spiritual activities. Wellness tourists are proactive in seeking to improve or maintain health and quality of life, often focusing on prevention. However, wellness tourism is often correlated with medical tourism where the traveler is looking for medical aid to get cured mostly through indigenous medicines and therapy.

Himalayas being home to huge collection of medicinal plants and hot springs known for their curative properties provides a stable platform for building health and wellness tourism. Ayurveda spas, wellness centres, Yoga retreats bode well with a scenic and calmative settings of Himachal Pradesh.

2.9 Film tourism

There is a growing interest and demand for locations among travelers which become popular due to their appearance in films and television series. Films, documentaries, TV-productions and commercials inspire people to experience the locations screened in the content and to explore such new destinations. Film tourism is an excellent vehicle for destination marketing and creates opportunities for product and community entrepreneur development. Film field is a fast-paced industry, driven by creative passion, positive energy and tremendous enthusiasm, which can be cross-pollinated into the tourism and services sector to yield fast results.

2.10 MICE tourism

The MICE market refers to a specialized niche of group tourism dedicated to planning, booking, and facilitating conferences, seminars, and other events; which is a big money-maker in the travel industry. Such events, when hosted, draws plenty of attention to the hosting city or place and benefits the local economies through multiplier effect (travel, accommodation, food, local travel etc.). Infrastructure created to support such events also helps in the Fast-Track development of these areas and indirectly becomes a platform for showcasing local culture.

Meeting Travel hosts a gathering of people coming together in one place, usually a limited number of people, to discuss a subject.

Incentive Travel may be one of the harder components of MICE travel to understand since it doesn't necessarily deal with group events. Instead, incentive travel is typically given to employees as a reward. Incentive travel doesn't usually have a business or explicit educational component but instead is more of a non-business vacation with the aim of continued motivation for performance.

Conference Travel involves organizing itineraries, meetings, and events for people from the same profession or field. Conferences usually have specific agenda, objectives and a planned list of activities for exchange of information.

Exhibition Travel: At an exhibition, products or services are displayed and might be the primary focus of the event. Exhibitions are often included in other conferences and meetings, there is often an overlap.
